

PPM Surveys - King Alfred's Academy

Client: King Alfred's Academy
Site: Wantage, Oxon
Offer: Planned Preventative Maintenance Surveys

Overview

Evans Jones was appointed by King Alfred's Academy in Wantage to complete a Planned Preventative Maintenance (PPM) survey for the whole senior school site ranging from Grade II listed buildings, to 1970s purpose built blocks, to relatively modern buildings.

Challenges

The main challenge was to manage a team of surveyors ensuring consistent results across a large number and broad range of building types in a short time period.

We also had to ensure that data was produced and presented in a meaningful and useful format.

Results

Unlike many of our competitors we used Chartered Building Surveyors to complete all the surveys and used our own excel based system to present the results. These included detailed assessments of each building allowing the client to prepare detailed budgets on both an individual building and site wide basis.

"We were very pleased with the attention to detail provided by Evans Jones. The team of surveyors were on site for a week which allowed for a very detailed plan of maintenance work to be produced. This was extremely helpful to us when preparing our budgets on both an individual building and site wide basis. I would highly recommend Evans Jones service to others."
